Letters Discuss Need to Improve Economic Condition

THE MAIL MAN CAME and left two letters. They result from the area economic condition and what can be done to improve it.

One letter was from O. T. Mann of Galatia Route 2. Although I am not profound in my knowledge of economics, I believe Mr. Mann has a point.

He says this:
"I have always read your columns but I am particularly interested in it these past few days. We agree with several hundred other people that we need industries in and around Harrisburg."

"In your column the other day you mention the desire for people to at least look at what the merchants have to sell."

"We went to two home-owned stores to sell sweet potatoes and even offered to trade even-up for Irish potatoes."

"One grocer did not want them. The other one orders its potatoes from St. Louis. What has the St. Louis area got that their trade is better than the home farmers? I sure argue that we should trade at home but the rule works both ways."

Mr. Mann suggests a canning factory and a wood-working factory for this area. He points to the double income possible by both the grower and the canning factory. And he points to the timber available right around here for a wood-working factory.

HERE'S A LETTER from Mrs. John Stinson of Harrisburg Route 3:

"Yes, I have wondered much about what can be done for our community. I live outside the city limits but do our buying in the stores around town.
"Nine years ago we came here and bought a home because we wanted our children to grow up in this kind of a community. My husband was born and reared in and around the city. There were four boys, and each in turn, as he was old enough, had to leave to find work. All went to Chicago. But each had the longing to come back and settle at home.
"I understand this feeling of belonging to a place. I was reared in Chicago and we had no roots. Never owned our home, just lived, you might say. So belonging and knowing people in a community is wonderful. But we didn't stop to take in the economic situation and now we are sorry.
"At first my husband was able to get work. He worked at Derling, at Peabody, and was on the

Democrats Dispute GOP Claims Of Votes to Beat Rigid Supports

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans claimed today they have lined up 50 or 51 Senate votes against a Democratic proposal to restore high, rigid price supports for basic farm crops.

This would be more than enough to defeat the Democratic plan, leaving the administration's flexible price support program in effect. But the claim was disputed by Democratic backers of a return to price supports at 90 per cent of parity for corn, cotton, peanuts, milable wheat and rice consumed domestically.

Chairman Allen J. Ellender (D-La.) of the Senate Agriculture Committee said administration forces must be counting some senators who are sure to vote for 80 per cent supports. He expressed confidence that the Senate will approve a return to high price supports by a narrow margin when a showdown vote is taken next Thursday.

Strikes at President

The basic crop support issue is scheduled for the first vote when the Senate starts voting on an omnibus farm bill. The measure also includes provisions for a $1,100,000,000 soil bank, an increase in

Stevenson Asks Change In Hearts of Men to End Discrimination

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Presidential candidate Adlai E. Stevenson suggested today that "before we cast a stone at Alabama" Americans should ask themselves how the Negro fares in communities outside the South.

"It is clearly a matter of grave concern when a girl in Alabama is denied her constitutional rights by mob violence," Stevenson told a University of Minnesota convocation audience.

But he said racial discrimination in some degree is "still a fact of life for the great majority of Negroes" outside the South.

Evidence of Progress

The former Illinois governor arrived in the Twin Cities late Thursday to launch a five-day Minnesota presidential primary election campaign.

Stevenson said America can "take great pride" in gains of minority groups in the last two or three decades.

"Yet this very progress now poses a new threat to the constitutional processes—and one world watches with closer attention," he said.

There have been failures, he said, but "there is evidence that the process we have undertaken is certain to prevail; that we are managing to change the hearts and minds of men as well as the laws under which they have long lived."

Turning to another phase of civil rights, Stevenson said the denial of rights to some citizens "must not blind us to the more subtle but no less dangerous erosion of liberties which has characterized this period."

For the first time we have seen the faceless informer draped in the mantle of our federal government," he said. "It has become commonplace for American citizens to be certified as disloyal without opportunity to face their accusers or to know the source and nature of charges against them."

He said adequate guards against subversion are needed but he warned "it will be of no avail if in the process we destroy the very things we seek to protect."

The Democratic presidential hopeful criticized the Eisenhower administration foreign policy. He said Secretary of State John Foster Dulles apparently "deems it possible and proper to act as a lawyer for the Republican Party and secretary of state for the United States at the same time."

'Oil Money' Hearings End on Note of Conflict

Perjury Prosecution Could Follow Dispute in Testimony

WASHINGTON (AP) — The sensation-packed hearings into "oil money" campaign contributions ended today on a sharp note of conflict between witnesses.

The conflict revolved around whether an oil lobbyist tried to give $2,500 to the campaign fund of Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper (R-Iowa).

John M. Neff, Nebraska attorney for Superior Oil Co. of California, swore he didn't.

Robert K. Goodwin, GOP national committeeman from Iowa, swore he did and stuck by his testimony in the face of challenging affidavits from Neff's lawyer.

Committee Counsel Charles W. Steadman indicated it will be up to the Justice Department to resolve the sharp conflict in testimony. There could be a perjury prosecution. A federal grand jury is now in session here on Neff's activities.

Goodwin also stuck by previous testimony that Neff had paid calls on him twice.

Neff has insisted he paid only one call on Goodwin and never discussed campaign contributions.

Neff's attorney, Ivan D. Evans of Broken Bow, Neb., today supported Neff in his testimony and formally challenged "truth" of Goodwin's sworn testimony.

It was Neff who precipitated the sometimes dramatic, often fast-breaking Senate investigation by offering a $2,500 campaign contribution for Sen. Francis Case (R-SD).

Case's disclosure of the proffered contribution resulted in President Eisenhower's veto of the natural gas bill and a decision by the Senate to conduct a broad-scale investigation of lobbying activities.

The hearings ended today were conducted by a special committee limited to the Case contribution and Neff's activities in surrounding states in connection with the natural gas bill.

Case, who sat through most of the hearings, had no comment on the investigation as he left the hearing room. He told a reporter that he would withhold any comment until the committee has submitted its report.

Sen. Kefauver Will Not Make Issue of Health

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Estes Kefauver, a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, differed today with his party's plans to make President Eisenhower's health an issue in this year's campaign.

Kefauver said if he is chosen by the Democrats to run against Mr. Eisenhower he personally "will not make an issue of Mr. Eisenhower's physical condition or his lack of health."

The Tennessee senator's view was sharply at odds, however, with those of Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler and Kefauver's two rivals for the party's presidential nomination, Adlai Stevenson and New York Gov. Averell Harriman. They brushed aside a warning from GOP National Chairman Leonard W. Hall that making the President's health an issue would "boomerang" against the Democrats.

Butler retorted that the President himself "introduced the health issue." He said the President devoted his TV-radio address on his second term decision "almost entirely" to the "restrictions which his heart attack would impose on his future conduct" of the presidency.

Comment By Stevenson

He said the President during his address "seemed to be preoccupied with his health."

Stevenson, now stumping in Minnesota, commented that the presidency "cannot be conducted on a part-time basis" but that the President evidently wants to make it a "permanent" part-time job. He said he was "amazed" at the President's statement that he had "fully performed the duties of the presidency for the past few weeks."

Harriman said outright that Mr. Eisenhower "has made it (his health) an issue." He said it "looks more and more" as though Mr. Eisenhower is becoming a part-time president.

Butler asked whether the farm question, the Middle East crisis and Russia's new economic offensive are "in the hands of the President or still in the hands of a regency."

Kefauver said that although he would not inject Mr. Eisenhower's health into the campaign he was "sure the voters will think about it."

Storm Isolates Korean Truce Front; 103 Dead

EASTERN FRONT, Korea (AP) — American helicopter pilots today defied raging snowstorms to fly emergency supplies to the eastern Korean truce front where 103 South Korean soldiers were dead or missing in the heaviest storm in 40 years.

An estimated 28,000 Republic of Korea troops and a small detachment of Americans were isolated near the steep ridges of historic Punchbowl by more than four days of continuing blizzards.

ROK army headquarters reported 78 soldiers had perished of snow and cold and 25 are missing. Another 54 soldiers were injured in accidents caused by the storms.

Officials feared the casualty toll would mount as army crews struggled in the continuing storm to restore communications with the scattered units in the mountainous area.

Most of the dead were reported to have suffocated in bunkers, pillboxes and frontline shacks when the roofs collapsed under the weight of snow. The record snowfall ranged from 7 to 19 feet in the worst-hit areas.

Be Ready Next Time, Judge Advises Youth

William Roberts, Eldorado youth hailed into court for the second time on a petition which seeks to revoke his probation, was granted a continuance this morning after Judge C. E. Wright of Carbondale told him to be sure and be ready next time. The case was continued until March 16.

Roberts, who last Sept. 22 pleaded guilty to a charge of burglary and larceny and was placed on probation for three years, was charged with violating his probation by stealing copper wire belonging to the Illinois Power Co. on Jan. 24.

Feb. 3 he was taken into court on the petition but no action was taken on the petition. In court again Feb. 17, Judge Wright, when Roberts told him he had no funds to get a lawyer to defend him, appointed Atty. Joe M. Butler as his counsel.

This morning both Roberts and Butler appeared before Wright, with Butler telling the judge that Roberts had made no effort to contact him.

Judge Wright then informed Roberts that Butler had been appointed to represent him without compensation and that he should co-operate with the counsel.

"I want it understood that you will be ready for a hearing March 16," Judge Wright told Roberts. "On that date you can either admit your guilt or have a hearing. My advice is," he continued, "if you have done this thing you'll feel better if you don't do another wrong trying to get out of this one."

Before the case was continued one witness was heard to establish ownership of the wire so that the wire can be released to the Illinois Power Co.

Testifying was Forrest Gardner of Eldorado, who on Jan. 24 was line foreman of the Southeastern Utility Construction Co. which was rebuilding a power line at Eldorado. He testified he identified the wire in a car at the county jail as that which had been stored at the IPL substation in Eldorado.

It was stipulated that the wire was at the rear of the jail in an auto belonging to Roberts when it was identified by Gardner.

Eden, Cabinet Discuss Action Of Jordan King

Term Dismissal of Lt. Gen. Glubb Pasha A 'Deep Shock'

LONDON (AP) — Jordan today fired Lt. Gen. John Glubb Pasha as commander of its Arab Legion and Sir Anthony Eden called an emergency cabinet meeting to discuss this major blow to British influence in the Middle East.

Informed sources said the prime minister took a "grave view" of Jordan's action and of its probable effects throughout the Middle East where Israel and its Arab neighbors have approached the brink of war many times in the last few years.

Eden called his cabinet, and the chiefs of Britain's armed forces, as soon as the news of Glubb's dismissal reached him. The ministers of war, air and admiralty are not members of the regular cabinet.

The firing of Glubb and his staff ended the greatest desert legend since Lawrence of Arabia and threatened one of Britain's last major strongholds in the Middle East. The pint-sized Glubb and two of his similarly sacked staff officers left by plane for London today.

Cheers from Anti-British

The Foreign Office issued a statement terming Glubb's abrupt dismissal after 30 years of friendship with the Arab kingdom a "deep shock."

In Jordan, King Hussein drove through the streets of Amman amid wildly enthusiastic cheers from anti-British demonstrators.

Hussein shook hands through his open car window with scores of his subjects. The crowd shouted congratulations to the monarch for "liberating" the Jordanian army from the British.

The upheaval raised an Arab, Brig. Gen. Radi 'Unab, to command of the crack Jordan force that Glubb moulded. It seriously shook Britain's hold on one of its last firm stakes in Asia Minor. Britain virtually created the Hashemite Kingdom of Jordan and even now underwrites the Arab Legion to the tune of 22 million dollars a year.

Sentinel of Friendship

For 30 years British Gen. John Bagot Glubb, 5 feet 4 inches in the Arab burnoose he customarily wore, toiled in the desert to create a fighting legion. He had formally commanded the red-kerchiefed Arab troops since 1939.

The greying little soldier with three World War I wounds was until today Britain's chief symbol and sentinel of friendship binding it to Jordan.

Glubb's ejection was an obvious blow to Britain, publicly administered and announced by the king over Jerusalem Radio. But diplomatic observers believed Britain saw it coming and accepted it as concession to counterweight Egyptian intervention in Amman.

Observers said Britain may now have a firmer hold on what is left of its stake in Jordan where it maintains an important royal air force base.

Today's move strengthened Hussein's position. Observers believed Britain would move quietly to firm up its influence in a friendlier atmosphere.

Hussein's action was a blow to British prestige in the simmering Middle East and a victory for the Arab states of Egypt, Syria and Saudi Arabia which teamed together and offered to match Britain's annual grant of $22,000,000 a year to the legion.

It was the blow to the western Allies as well for Jordan has been under western pressure to join the anti-Communist Baghdad Pact. Opposition in Jordan to the pact erupted in wild rioting late last year when scores of persons were injured and three governments fell.

Investigating The Lobbies

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY
He hath made everything beautiful in His time.—Ec. 3:11.
If we are indeed God's children we should emulate our Father. We do try to beautify that which we love. God has made this world beautiful, the sun rise and sun set, the summer sky, the rivers and mountains and plains. He has forgotten nothing.

Editorial — BY BRUCE BLOSSAT

There could hardly be a tougher assignment in an election year than membership on the projected bipartisan Senate committee to look into lobbying, campaign contributions and all improper pressures applied against senators. Lawmakers running for re-election and confronted with the problem of mounting campaign expenses can have no great enthusiasm for an inquiry now into the campaign fund issue. But if it should lead to effective revision of today's unrealistic laws governing contributions, they should welcome it.

By the same token, though a study of lobbying and other pressures may cause immediate discomfiture in some quarters, legislators ought in time to be happier if long-range benefits follow in the shape of tighter and more comprehensive lobbying laws.

To produce such a favorable outcome demands of course, a committee lineup not only devoted to seeking out the whole truth but determined to translate its discoveries into solid legislative achievement.

Anything less than this may do more harm than good. For it may create the illusion that a thorough job has been done when it has not, and thus throw the American public off a track they have a right to travel to the very end.

Lobbying is a legitimate activity recognized by law. Individuals and organizations have a perfect right to present their point of view in the halls of Congress and elsewhere in the councils of government.

But, on the other side, the people have a right to know the nature and extent of this activity, and who is involved. Present laws give them inadequate protection on this score.

Lawmakers, whether at the local, state or national level, are the representatives of all the people. It is not right that laws should be drafted and adopted as result of lobbying influences partly or wholly unknown to the public.

Nor, obviously, could it ever be right that legislation is approved or killed because lobbyists hand lawmakers money or other favors, or threaten their defeat at the polls. The lobbyist's fair presentation of his views surely stops short of such excesses.

When money pressure takes the subtle form of campaign contributions, the difficulty becomes more complex. Until we get a system of public support for campaign effort, we will be relying on private contributions from individuals and corporations.

With no substitute method in use, we cannot complain of this so long as contributions are made with no strings attached. But there may be often a fine line between contributions in expectation of political favors, and those made as part of a firm deal to deliver a vote. The system is weak. The way to abuse is open and easily traveled.

The entire lobbying structure and the campaign financing setup badly need modernization and improvement to align them with the realities in 1956. Every American must hope the projected bipartisan investigation spawns these constructive results.

Ingredients For Courage

There is a notion abroad in some quarters, political, intellectual and other, that moderation is the course of weakness, that only by "taking a firm stand" does a man exhibit courage and integrity.

We would suggest that many times, though certainly not universally, the exact opposite is true. Again and again the moderate path is the hard one.

Often it is unspectacular as compared with the more dramatic extremes. Since, too, it so frequently stresses compromise, it can be unpopular when the social, political or moral atmosphere is one of uncompromisingness. There are many occasions, too,

"Come and Get It"

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON SAYS: Superior Oil Paid No Taxes In 1953-54; Tax Loopholes Give Oil Companies Plenty Of Money For Political Funds; Shell Oil Gets 53 Secret Leases In U. S. Wildlife Refuges.

WASHINGTON.—The more you look into the Superior Oil Company and the Keck family which tried to give that $2,500 to Senator Case, the more amazing the picture becomes.

Senate investigators have just discovered that Superior Oil Company not only paid zero income taxes in 1953 and 1954, but actually made money in the form of tax credits under the special tax laws written for the benefit of the oil industry.

This may explain why Superior's free-spending president, Bill Keck, was able to throw political contributions around.

All other corporations have been paying 52 per cent of their net income as taxes since 1952. Yet the rich oil companies have been paying next to nothing because of depletion allowances and other tax loopholes.

Keck's company earned $10,260,388 net income in 1954. But believe it or not, after all the tax deductions were added, the government ended up owing the company $100,000 in tax credits. The company's tax returns for 1953 were even more incredible. Its net income before taxes was $12,500,382. The net income after taxes was $13,000,382—or $500,000 more than the original income. Again, the government paid off this half-million in the form of tax credits.

In other words, oil companies are the only corporations that can end a year with a huge income and collect taxes from the government instead of the other way around.

RAID TIMES UNDER DEMOCRATS

In 1952, when Truman was in office, Superior Oil didn't do as well. Out of a $12,100,165 income, the company actually paid the government $200,000. However, this was only 1.6 per cent of its income while companies in other industries were paying 52 per cent.

The highest tax Superior has paid in the past 10 years was $3,000,000.

File $78,500 Suit Against Illinois Official

MORRIS, Ill. (UP)—A farm couple Thursday filed a $78,500 damage suit against Glen D. Palmer, Illinois director of conservation, charging him with negligent driving in an auto accident.

The suit was filed in Grundy County Circuit Court by Adolph Burk and his wife, Amanda, who live on a farm 15 miles south of here.

The suit charged that Palmer was negligent in an accident Sept. 30, 1954. It said the accident resulted in serious neck injuries for Mrs. Burk and lesser injuries to two daughters, Linda Sue, 5, and Barbara, 15.

The suit alleged that Mrs. Burk's neck was made permanently stiff and that she is unable to turn it without severe pain. It also said she suffered fracture of six ribs and right wrist and was left with recurring headaches.

000,000 in 1948, also under Truman. This was only 16.7 per cent, however, of a $17,917,474 income. In 1948, Superior again paid absolutely no income tax. Most often, the payment has amounted to a paltry $200,000, which happened to be the figure for 1949, 1950 and 1952.

By paying only token taxes, the oil companies have been able to raise more money to lobby for more tax loopholes. These, in turn, have freed more money to lobby for the oil boys. But it's the small taxpayers who are really financing the oil lobby, since they have to make up the taxes the oil companies don't pay.

Note 1—Thanks to these astonishing tax benefits, millionaires have sprung up in the oil industry as nowhere else. Texas oil millionaires have been contributing vast sums to their political pets and pouring money into political magazines, broadcasts, and other propaganda to influence public opinion.

Note 2—For years Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas has carefully scrutinized the House Ways and Means committee which writes the tax laws to make sure nobody was put on that committee who might vote against the 27½ per cent oil depletion allowance and the right of oil-gas companies to write off the total cost of drilling wells. This is one reason the special tax benefits have never been changed.

OIL VS. WILDLIFE

What the oil-gas companies have been getting continues to unfold with exciting drama. I owe an apology for underestimating this generosity in the past.

On Jan. 11, 1956, I revealed for the first time how "Generous Doug" McKay had bowed to Maj. Gen. Frank Schwengel, president of Seagram's Whiskey, and granted drilling rights in the Lacassine waterfowl refuge of Louisiana to Seagram's Frankfurt Oil company.

I also reported that, prior to this, McKay had placed a stop order against oil permits in game preserves. This was wrong.

For, during the fall of 1953, "Generous Doug" issued 53 oil and gas leases to the Shell Oil company in the Railroad Valley game management area of Nevada.

Hundreds of small wildcatters abandoned their applications during McKay's alleged "stop order." They took McKay at his word, thought no leases were processed while that order was on the books from Aug. 31, 1953, to Dec. 2, 1955. However, a potent company, Shell Oil, secured 53 leases.

This was developed during testimony before the House Marine and Fisheries committee.

"After all, he (McKay) had issued the stop order, and he had the right to change the stop order if he wanted to," testified Donald J. Chaney, Interior Department lawyer for Fish and Wildlife.

"Did he give any notice of lifting the stop order?" asked Chairman Herbert Bonner of North Carolina.

"No, not that I know of," replied Chaney, "no public notice."

"So that other people who wanted to get this property could come in and make the same claim?"

"Not that I know of," Chaney admitted.

Next day Rep. Henry S. Reuss (D., Wis.) pointed out that during McKay's so-called "stop order," a total of 60 oil and gas leases had been issued. By contrast, only 16 leases had previously been issued during the entire 55-year history of wildlife refuges.

"It is well said," declared Reuss, referring to the stop order, "that what the secretary hath given, the secretary can take away. And what the secretary was doing when he granted these leases was just pro tanto amending the stop order."

"I suggest that this really is not a very good way to run a government department; that when we want to repeal an order we repeal it in writing, and we duly publicize the repeal so that all men may know what is going on. We do not simply violate the order," Reuss insisted.

Thinking It Over—For Lent

By Robt. Dieffenbacher, D. D. Written for NEA Service

Our children brought their report cards home from school a month ago. Many a child shivered in his boots because mother or dad would question or scold him for his poor results. Others were proud of their achievements and commendation. Thousands, yes, millions of others were just average.

The parents of the nation showed a variety of feelings ranging from pride, through indifference, to rage. Now that the grading period is over we breathe hopefully until the next date of decision.

In the meantime—right now—what are we doing to help our children improve? What can we do? What ought we to do?

We can do our best to assist with reading, writing and arithmetic.

We can encourage our children to do their best. Most of all we can set an example by doing our best.

We can show that we are honest and sincere.

We can be truly interested instead of being indifferent.

We can show our children that prayer and worship make us happier and more effective in everything we do.

If our concentrated Lenten devotions do not help both us and our children, we had better not be too critical of mere report cards.

The new 59th Representative district, under the reapportionment voted by the legislature following approval of the voters of Illinois, includes Williamson, Hamilton, Saline, Gallatin, Pope, Hardin, Johnson and Massac counties.

Carrier Mills, Shawneetown in Finals Tonight

Wildcats Win Close, 63-61, Semifinal Tilt From McLeansboro

The Carrier Mills Wildcats battled their way into the championship game of the McLeansboro regional by edging past the host club in Thursday's semi-final game 63-61.

Carrier Mills will face the unbeaten Shawneetown Indians, who advanced to the finals in a semi-final game Wednesday, beating Harrisburg 86-67.

Thus the stage is set for a return game between two clubs who fought through a thrilling game at Carrier Mills back on Nov. 19, with Shawneetown the victor, 69-68. Followers of both teams have hoped for a return game and tonight is the night.

The McLeansboro Foxes, playing a schedule that included such teams as Alton, Pinckneyville, Quincy and others, entered last night's game with a 14-2 record. Carrier Mills' record was 16-8 and victory number 17 was recorded after a heart-stopper that went right down to the final second before the result was decided.

Even First Quarter

Carrier Mills and McLeansboro split a home-and-home series during the season, each winning on their own floor.

The game got underway with Vern Rollins breaking the scoring ice with a fielder to put Carrier Mills in front 2-0. Sloan, McLeansboro's center, tied the count on two free tosses and for the remainder of the quarter the teams struggled on even terms. The score was knotted seven times, 22, 44, 6-6, 10-10, 14-14, 16-16 and when the horn sounded it was 18-18.

During that period Sloan scored 10 of McLeansboro's points. Reid had eight and O. Rollins six for Carrier Mills.

The home team held a two-point advantage in the second quarter, 16-14, and this was the only frame Carrier Mills was outscored. Hall picked up the scoring lead for McLeansboro, hitting for ten points. Sloan, with three fouls, was kept on the bench. Carrier Mills' scoring was well divided, Fitts with 5, Reid 4, V. Rollins and Reese two each and O. Rollins a free toss. Reid, playing an outstanding floor game, was steady at the free throw line, hitting 11 during the game in as many tries. He had hit his only two attempts in the first game of the tourney and is now carrying a string of 13 successful tosses.

Win in Final Quarter

At one time in the second period McLeansboro piled up a five-point, 26-21 advantage. Then Carrier Mills roared back to knot the score at 26-26. The score was tied on four occasions.

O. Rollins picked up foul number three with 5:10 remaining to be played and was pulled from the game for the rest of the quarter.

The third quarter was a continuation of the first two. The score was tied three times, but once in the frame Carrier Mills was 5 points in front, 44-39. Then McLeansboro rallied for six straight points and held a 45-44 lead at three-quarter time.

Carrier Mills had a 19-point last quarter and held McLeansboro to 16 to take the game 63-61. Carrier Mills held a 57-50 lead with 4:15 left to play, but McLeansboro was still very much in the game and with 17 seconds left Hall hit two free tosses to pull McLeansboro within 2 points. But that was the last of the scoring for either team.

Score 27 Free Shots

Both teams were hampered in the closing part of the game as each had two standout performers on the bench via the five-foul rule. Bell and Sloan for Carrier Mills and Carrier Mills' Rollins brothers, Oliver and Vern, were whistled for five fouls.

McLeansboro shot a red-hot 415 from the field, hitting 22 fielders on 53 tries. Carrier Mills had a .269 average with 18 of 67.

However, the Wildcats were picking up points at the free throw line, hitting 27 and missing 19. McLeansboro hit 17 and missed 14 free tosses.

It was the final high school game for two McLeansboro players, Bell and Jones, seniors. Seven of the other eight members are juniors and one a sophomore.

Crane Tech Star, Member of Gang, Dropped from Team

CHICAGO — Gerald Williams, star forward on the Crane Tech High School basketball team, was dropped from the squad Thursday because of his alleged role in a "wolf pack" stabbing.

The 16-year-old cage ace was one of nine boys picked up in the stabbing of Lafanza Davis, 18, Feb. 21 in a fight over a girl. He is scheduled to appear in court Tuesday on delinquency charges.

Crane Tech Principal Vincent Conroy said "will not be permitted to represent the school in any regularly scheduled activity of any nature whatsoever until he can prove by his outside activity that he again is a good citizen."

After Williams' suspension was announced, the Crane Tech team beat Marshall, 68-45, in a quarter-final game for the city's Public League senior championship.

Decatur, Danville, Paris, Elgin, Springfield are Eliminated in Regionals

By United Press

Some of the schools that have made state tournament history won't qualify for the "Sweet Sixteen" this year — Decatur, Danville, Springfield, Elgin, Canton, Paris all were knocked out in regional play Thursday night.

None of these was as strong as in past years, but cage fans probably seldom, if ever, heard of some of the schools that dealt the death blows. All the Thursday night winners will play for the 60 regional championships tonight.

Paris, failing to get into sectional play for the first time in a generation, was beaten by Newman 55-52. In the same tourney, at Paris, Longview ABL polished off Charleston 64-60.

District winner St. Joseph walked Danville 51-39, while Westville was upsetting Danville Schlarmann 56-48.

At Decatur, Warrensburg-Latham with a 23-5 record, nipped Decatur 62-60 to face Decatur St. Teresa, a 46-41 victor over Decatur Lakeview, in the final.

Lanphier Wins Weird Tilt

Springfield lost one of the night's weirdest games. The Senators grabbed the ball after an initial shot by Springfield Lanphier and held it until the quarter ended 0-0.

The half ended 2-1 in favor of Lanphier. The Springfield hope of forcing Lanphier to foul was foiled when the Senators missed their initial throws and Lanphier slowly pulled ahead in the second half to win 39-20.

Peoria Limestone, a school with only a short history, whipped Canton, a team enshrined in state final record books, by 66-54 at Pekin. Limestone (15-9) will meet Pekin (11-14) which won 50-48 over district winner Minier (27-3 for the season).

In one of the night's outstanding games, Edwardsville, ranked fifth in the state, sank Alton, ranked 11th, by a 67-61 score. The win gave Edwardsville a 22-5 record for the year.

Pinckneyville, ranked the No. 2 team in the state behind defending champion Rockford West, dumped district winner Steeleville 79-39, and tonight faces Nashville, 63-47 over Du Quoin.

Herrin Beats Attucks

Herrin, ranked third, sacked Carbondale Attucks, a strong district champion, by 72-53. Carbondale eliminated Carbondale University High 92-51 in the other game at Marion.

Favored Rock Island almost came a cropper against Rock Island Alleman at Moline, winning 60-58 after two overtimes. The Rocks meet Moline, rated 12th in the state, in the final.

Albion was beaten only three times all season—and by the same team each time, Carmi, which dealt the third loss 66-58 Thursday night at Fairfield.

Elgin's come-uppance was at the hands of Elgin St. Edward 65-63. St. Edward got there the hard way, after winning the district crown, and will meet favored Crystal Lake, a 78-61 winner over strong Dundee, tonight. Crystal Lake, with a 25-3 mark, is rated 15th in the state.

Washington's Panthers qualified to meet co-Big 12 champ Peoria Central at East Peoria by slaying East Peoria 79-59.

Carrier Mills and Oliver (Big Cat) Rollins loomed as the big obstacle in unbeaten Shawneetown's path to further glory after beating McLeansboro 63-61 at McLeansboro. Shawneetown has won 28 but got its closest shave against Carrier Mills in regular season play.

Little York Advances

Of the two most heralded district tourney winners left, one won and one lost Thursday night. Little York, 26-1, moved into the final at Aledo with a 63-40 victory over Winola. But Minier was ousted by Pekin. Another strong district champ, Odell St. Paul, reached trail's end against Pontiac, 86-63 at Gardner.

At Galesburg, the host team won against Abingdon as expected 75-64 but Galva, with a 23-2 record, upset Knoxville 23-3, by 69-59.

Chicago Heights Bloom, South Suburban champ rated 14th in the state, jolted St. Anne 78-50 at Bradley, while Kankakee edged Rich Township 64-62.

Salem, North Egypt champ, 23-4, smashed Trenton the district winner by 87-60, while Centralia won the other game at Salem 74-56 over Patoka.

Peru St. Bede set up a featured attraction at its tourney by winning from Mendota 93-80 and qualifying to meet La Salle-Peru tonight.

In suburban play, results followed the usual topsy-turvy pattern. Hinsdale edged favored Cicero Morton 46-44; Highland Park surprised Evanston 70-62; and New Trier whipped Waukegan 74-66.

Court Injunction Lifts Suspension Of Wes Santee

NEW YORK — The way was cleared today for an elated Wes Santee to compete in Saturday night's big "Columbian Mile" at Madison Square Garden, as track meet officials bowed before a court injunction permitting him to run.

The injunction—which held up the AAU's lifetime suspension of Santee at least until March 9 — was handed down Thursday by State Supreme Court Judge James R. McNally.

That prompted officials of Saturday's Knights of Columbus meet to go into a three-hour huddle here Thursday night. They finally emerged with Chairman Tom Hargan saying, "Permission will be granted to Santee to compete in our meet if he wishes to do so."

There was no "if" about Santee's feelings. The lanky Marine lieutenant from Kansas who will leave the Quantico Marine Base tonight, promised, "I'll give it all I've got to win."

The AAU banned Santee, "for life" on charges he received $1,500 in excess expense money for running in meets last year and also that his wife received another $1,

Downstate Fishermen's Guide

By PETE BROWN

(From reports by the Illinois State Department of Conservation and the SIU Cooperative Fisheries Research Laboratory.)

Unsettled weather conditions have left southern Illinois lakes high and muddy, largely nullifying what promised to be a good week for eager area fishermen.

A few crappie catches were reported at Horseshoe and Crab Orchard lakes, but the average results were far from sensational. Certain areas of Lake Murphysboro have been closed for repair work, resulting in little or no activity there. The entire lake is expected to be open by the first week in March, however.

With the end of rain and adverse winds, crappie fishing should be in earnest. Bass will start hitting shortly after crappie.

One of southern Illinois' more promising lakes for crappie fishing is Horseshoe lake, a 2,400 acre natural impoundment 12 miles northwest of Cairo.

The fact that Horseshoe is likely to yield more satisfactory results this season than in the past few years can be attributed to management practices started in 1953.

Gerald E. Gunning, a Southern Illinois university graduate student, spent five months investigating the lake in 1953. Before then fishermen and biologists alike were in agreement on one thing—that the lake's game fish population was on the skids.

Gunning's study revealed that rough fish population in the lake had considerably increased since a similar survey by Thompson and Bennett of the Illinois Natural History Survey in 1938. Gunning collected 28 species of fish, with carp, white crappie, bluegill and gizzard shad in the majority. In 1938, the lake's carrying capacity was estimated at 400 pounds of fish per acre, or about one million pounds overall. At that time there was a good population of bass, crappie and sunfish. Among other miscellaneous findings in 1953 was the fact that white crappie greatly outnumbered black crappie—just the reverse of conditions in 1938.

In December of 1953 the Illinois Department of Conservation declared war on Horseshoe's rough fish population, removing hundreds of pounds per acre. A year later Gunning surveyed the lake again and found a relative increase in bass and crappie population. The Conservation Department followed up with another trammel net campaign in 1955.

As of now, Horseshoe's game fish population, in order of numerical strength, looks like this: white crappie, bluegill (they run large), channel catfish and flathead, and largemouth bass.

Wayne U., Utah Land Berths in NCAA Tourney

By United Press
Former champion Utah and dark-horse Wayne University of Detroit landed berths in the NCAA tournament today as that big basketball carnival drove to straight-out its lineup.

The Utes, who won the NCAA crown in 1944 in one of the tourney's biggest surprises, qualified for this year's fray Thursday night by clinching the Skyline Conference championship with a 91-40 rout of Colorado A & M at Salt Lake City, Utah.

Wayne, with a 16-1 overall record that includes a 15-game winning streak, was named as a "member at large." Utah draws a first-round pass and will play its first game at Corvallis, Ore., March 16, against the winner of the Idaho St.-Seattle first-round. Wayne will meet De Paul in a first-round game at Fort Wayne, Ind., March 12.

The NCAA also announced the following first-round pairings for the regional eliminations at New York, March 12-13: Holy Cross vs. Temple; Canisius vs. Atlantic Coast Conference champion; Connecticut vs. Manhattan; member-at-large bid will be offered to Ivy League champion, if decided in time vs. Southern Conference champion.

Addition of Utah and Wayne fills 15 of the 25 NCAA places. Still open are one member-at-large place—the one in New York—and nine conference champion berths.

GOP Believes Re-Election of Ike is Assured

WASHINGTON — Many Republicans acted today as though President Eisenhower's re-election already is assured and their chief worry now is to recapture control of Congress.

Warnings against complacency and over-confidence were heard from such party spokesmen as National Chairman Leonard W. Hall and Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland. But the almost universal feeling in the GOP was that Mr. Eisenhower's re-election is virtually a sure thing.

Republicans therefore shifted their interest to these questions: Who should the party's vice presidential nominee be? Can the party regain control of Congress? Although both Hall and Knowland predicted that Vice President Richard M. Nixon would again be Mr. Eisenhower's running mate, moves were started in behalf of rival candidates.

Herter Interested

Massachusetts Gov. Christian A. Herter indicated he would entertain a bid for the vice presidential nomination if he's asked. Indiana State Sen. Roy Conrad said he was ready to start a boom for Indiana Congressman Charles A. Halleck. The Cleveland Plain Dealer urged in an editorial that Secretary of the Treasury George H. Humphrey be given the nomination. And there were reports that former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York probably would accept the number two spot if Nixon were dropped.

Knowland would not specify whether he would be interested if Nixon were not accepted again.

Republicans Confident

As for the fight to win control of Congress from the Democrats, GOP managers were banking on Mr. Eisenhower's coattails to carry many Republican congressional candidates into office. They felt confident even though the 1952 and 1954 congressional elections showed that Mr. Eisenhower's popularity was not easily transferred to nominees for House and Senate.

Could Be

Community Service Leader to Speak at Third Annual Woman's Day at SIU

CARBONDALE, Ill. — Mrs. Frayn Utley of Chicago, one of Illinois' most respected community service leaders and a well-known radio personality, has been selected as speaker for the third annual "Woman's Day" program April 26 at Southern Illinois University.

An open invitation is being extended to women throughout southern Illinois to visit the campus on that date as guests of the SIU Women's club, composed of women faculty members and faculty wives. Club president is Mrs. Carl Lindgren, wife of the distinguished scientist who heads Southern's microbiology department.

Registration and a coffee hour at 9:30 a. m. in the Moody Hall formal lounge will open the program. Visitors will be offered guided tours of the new library, Life Science building and greenhouses, University School, Vocational-Technical Institute and Woody Hall (residence hall for women).

A buffet luncheon at noon in the University Cafeteria will precede a style show, in which home economics students will model garments they have made. (Luncheon tickets are priced at $1.50).

Mrs. Utley will speak during the afternoon program, which will begin at 2:30 p. m. at University School auditorium. A gift will be presented to the 1956 "Illinois Mother of the Year" who will be selected this month. Southern's Air Force ROTC Singing Squadron will perform.

Women interested in attending the program are asked to write Mrs. Mabel Pulliam, arrangement chairman, SIU Women's Club, Carbondale, for inclusion in a mailing list which is being prepared.

Mrs. Utley, who has served on the Chicago Board of Education, the Illinois School Problems Commission and the Welfare Council of Metropolitan Chicago, has been cited by the National Conference of Christians and Jews for putting "meaning into the title 'public servant'."

She organized the first house-to-house canvass in Chicago to raise money for the Community Fund and, while vice-president of the Illinois League of Women Voters, stumped the state to stir up interest in U. S. foreign policy.

Mrs. Utley has a radio commentary program which is broadcast over the NBC network from station WMAQ in Chicago.

Despite the heavy demands of her civic activities, she finds time to run a home and rear three sons. During World War II she doubled the size of her family by taking three French children into her home, where they lived for two years.

Mine Boss Killed In Tavern Quarrel

TAYLORVILLE, Ill. — Clifford W. Frost, 37, was shot and wounded Thursday in a tavern quarrel.

Sheriff Armando Passoni said Frost, a boss at the Crown Mine at Farmersville, had argued with Harold Wagner, 45, Morrisonville, in a Morrisonville tavern. He said Frost ejected Wagner from the tavern during the argument.

Wagner went home, got a shotgun, and returned and shot Frost through the tavern window, Passoni said. Wagner is being held in the Christian County jail.

Pope Observes 80th Birthday

VATICAN CITY — Pope Pius XII today observed his 80th birthday and the 17th anniversary of his election as spiritual leader of the Roman Catholic Church with prayers for the peace to which he has dedicated his life.

Thousands of pilgrims flocked to St. Peter's Square to pay tribute to, and receive the blessings of, the Pope, now in excellent health for a man of his years despite a slight hoarseness developed Thursday.

Cake From Children

This morning 200 children from 25 nations, including the United States, presented the Pope with a birthday cake dotted with 80 candles. The ceremony was unprecedented in Vatican annals.

Ronald Charles Kimball, nine-year-old son of the Cairo station manager of Trans-World Airlines, represented the United States.

Following the cake presentation ceremony, the Pope received high lay and church officials. The group presented the pontiff a book of parchments containing essays of tribute to his life and reign.

Prayers For Peace
Around the world, 450 million Catholics who look to the pontiff as their spiritual leader joined him in special prayers: For peace, for the persecuted millions of the "church of silence" behind the Iron Curtain, and for all those who suffer.

This is a reprint of an open letter by Publisher Charles C. Feirich of the Metropolis News in answer to an ad headed "Attention, Democrats" which appeared in a recent issue of this newspaper:

An Open Letter To The Voters Of The 59th Legislative District

Ladies And Gentlemen:

The NEWS wishes to apologize to Representative Paul Powell and to the voters of the 59th Legislative District for publishing an advertisement which appeared in the January 12 issue headed "ATTENTION DEMOCRATS."

The ad was a rather thinly disguised attack on Representative Powell and was signed by an alleged committee. The NEWS discovered this week that the man who wrote the ad and formed the alleged committee was ashamed to sign his name to the ad and refused to do so when asked.

The NEWS has no respect for an individual who will not sign his name to statements he makes. So far as the NEWS is concerned this refusal to sign his name is an admission that statements in the ad were not only unfair but untrue. The NEWS assures its readers that all political ads in the future will be signed by the person ordering them.

During the last session of the Illinois General Assembly the capitol correspondents of the city newspapers and the press associations selected the outstanding legislators in the House and Senate. These men have no political axe to grind. They deal with facts and figures. They deal with performances—not with promises. They looked them all over and picked the outstanding veteran member of the House of Representatives. Their selection was a Representative from this district: Paul Powell.

These correspondents in Springfield were not ashamed to sign their names to the report selecting Paul Powell as the outstanding veteran legislator. They are men of honor and integrity. They are willing to back up what they say.

The NEWS agrees with the correspondents in Springfield that Representative Paul Powell is an outstanding legislator for Southern Illinois as well as the rest of the state and apologizes to him for having published the unsigned advertisement.

Sincerely yours,

THE METROPOLIS NEWS

Mother, Father and Their 20 Children Enjoy Party as Guests of Toy Makers

NEW YORK — The nation's biggest family sat down to breakfast together today for the first time.

"It's good to sit down to the table and not have to cook," remarked 48-year-old Mrs. Winona Degolier, looking down the long oval table in a hotel room at her 20 brown-eyed, brown-haired sons and daughters.

Mrs. Degolier, her husband, Elmer, 55, and the children, ranging in age from 3 years to 27, arrived Thursday night from their Brocton, N. Y., farm home and other points for a family party as guests of the toy manufacturers of the U. S. A.

All but one of the children were home for Christmas last year, they said, but this is the first time since the birth of 3-year-old Janeen that the entire family has been together.

Their New York week-end will include something else that Christmas lacked—toys.

The children have "a few old blocks," Mrs. Degolier said. The little girls asked for dolls for Christmas, "but we have to give them clothes." The younger children have no toys.

But Sunday they will open a Christmas fair, and as official hosts for the 53rd annual Toy Fair.

Degolier farms 30 acres of fruits and vegetables, works for others during the winter and figures the family's spendable annual income at no more than $2,500.

The family "just happened," the parents said.

"We never know what's going to happen," Degolier said. "I don't say I'm sorry. As long as they all have good health and we can see them through, we don't worry too much."

They have had only one serious illness, the mother said, and only seven or eight of the children ever had measles.

Degolier said with a grin that he "wouldn't dare" figure the family's food bill. They raise much of their food, including a few chickens and are raising of meat.

Most of the children slept in separate beds Thursday night for the first time, in nine connected rooms in the Hotel Sheraton-McAlpin.

Gov't Discontinues Purchases of Frozen Pork to Raise Prices

WASHINGTON — The Agriculture Department is discontinuing purchases of frozen pork under the pork buying program to raise live hog prices.

The department said, however, it will continue to purchase canned pork products for continued welfare and institutional use during the summer and for school lunch use at the beginning of the new terms next fall. It said this week's purchases of frozen pork will fill requirements for the remainder of the current school year.

Saturday Morning Classes to Begin Next Fall at SIU

CARBONDALE, Ill.—Most of the Southern Illinois university students will go on a five-and-a-half day week beginning next fall, a move that has become necessary because of increasingly large enrollments.

The university, expecting 1000 additional students in September, announced today that Saturday morning classes will become a regular part of the students' work week.

At present, special Saturday classes are held, most of them for teachers and others who want to come to the campus at the end of their own working week. The new plan calls for an even distribution of regular classes over a six-day period.

Charles Tenney, vice president in charge of instruction, said the new schedule would provide a closer to capacity use of available classrooms, laboratories and shops. This will be necessary, Tenney explained, because no more Army-surplus barracks buildings are available and some of the former residences that have been pressed into use at SIU are being torn down to make way for proposed new buildings, parking lots and other facilities.

It was pointed out that the Saturday scheduling would not increase the number of hours students will spend in class during the week. Instead, it will increase the number of choices of classes available to them and will permit them to spend more hours during the week on part-time jobs.

The new plan will also enable the university to schedule classes at 10 a. m. There are currently no 10 a. m. classes because the hour is reserved on certain days for Air Force ROTC courses and student assemblies.

$11,250 in Jewelry Stolen from Safe of U. of Chicago Official

CHICAGO — Police said today that someone who knew the combination of a safe in the home of University of Chicago Chancellor Lawrence A. Kimpton had stolen jewels valued at $11,250.

Kimpton's wife discovered the loss Thursday, at almost the same time that her husband was appealing to Mayor Richard J. Daley for crime-fighting measures in the University of Chicago district.

The safe was opened and looted sometime between Jan. 24, when Mrs. Kimpton last opened it, and Feb. 7, when the couple returned from an Arizona vacation.

Second Round Polio Inoculations Completed in State

SPRINGFIELD — Second round polio shots under the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis mass inoculation program have been completed, the State Health Department reported Thursday.

The department said 336,096 first and second graders received the free second round shots, compared to 357,296 children who got the first injection.

However, Dr. Ruth Church, head of the department's communicable disease control section, said many children were receiving their second injections from private doctors.

The foundation agreed to provide a free two-shot injection for the nation's first and second grade school pupils after the Salk vaccine was approved for a mass vaccination program.

Just a Corpse at Twilight

XX

I gazed at him in the sunlight and saw the pain in his old eyes and the twitching of his lean face. I said, "Sheriff, you didn't want Alice to marry Wilbur or Doc or anybody, did you?"

"You're right," he blurted. Wilbur is a nincompoop. He lets his sister boss him and run his business. He ain't got guts enough to stand up and be a man."

"Perhaps Alice should have picked Dr. Jarrett?" I said.

"Him?" the sheriff said contemptuously. "A pompous ox who thinks he knows everything? Last summer he told Willie Brand's wife she had a tumor, and four months later she gave birth to an eight-pound boy. First tumor I ever saw that bawled and guzzled milk. The whole county is still laughing about it."

"The way you talk," I said, "you'd have made a better husband for Alice than either the doctor or Wilbur Tweed."

"I'm a better man right now than either of 'em! If Alice had only—"

"Take it easy, Sheriff."

"Go on," he said to me, pointing a trembling finger across the square. "Go on over there, if you want to, along with the rest of the vultures. Me, I'm going to eat."

As I climbed the porch steps, I passed people coming down, red-faced farmers in dark Sunday suits and their sturdy wives in flowered dresses and white shoes. Nellie Tweed, dressed in the same sober black, stood in the dusk of the hall. Her brown hair was still pulled back over her small ears and the dark-rimmed glasses gave her a somber look. If she recognized me, she gave no sign.

"Mrs. Osborn," I murmured, and turned into the room at the right of the hall.

She looked calm and serene, as she must have been in life, and her full lips still seemed to be smiling gently.

In the hall Nellie Tweed said huskily, "Would you care to sign the register?" and indicated an open book on a stand beneath a bronze-hooded lamp. "Thank you," I said. "Is Mrs. Osborn's sister here?"

"We expect Mrs. Woodruff this morning."

I moved to the book on the stand and wrote my name and left and crossed the square to the Winchester Inn.

Abner Cornwallis sat at a table by a window. As I approached, I saw that he was drinking tomato soup directly from the bowl.

"Sit down, sit down," he greeted me, lowering the bowl. "I ordered you the Sunday special."

I sat down across from him. "What's the Sunday special?"

"Swiss steak, mashed potatoes and gravy, succotash, Waldorf salad and butterscotch cream pie. Tomato soup or fruit juice. I had the soup."

"I'll have the juice," I said. "Everything else sounds fine."

An elderly, plump, gray-haired waitress came up and took my order. She banded with the sheriff and went away laughing. The sheriff grinned after her, showing his yellow teeth.

I said, "You're quite a man with the women, Sheriff."

He leered at me and touched his thick white hair. "Snow on the roof don't mean there ain't no fire in the furnace. How did she look?"

I was a little bewildered. "How did who look?"

"Alice. Who else?"

"Oh," I said, "she looked fine. I saw your flowers by the cake."

He seemed embarrassed. "Thought it was the thing to do," he said shortly. "Cost me $5." He avoided my gaze and began to butter a roll.

"It was nice of you," I said. "She has a lot of flowers."

"Heathenish. She can't smell 'em."

We left the dining room and he waited while I entered the lobby. Mrs. Dorn was still behind the desk.

She smiled and unhooked the glasses from her nose. "How are you today, Mr. Bennett?"

"Fine. Is Lucy around?"

"She's up in the apartment."

"Could I speak to her?"

"Help yourself," she nodded at the phone on the desk.

I picked up the phone. Lucy Dorn's voice said, "Yes?"

I said, "Do we still have a date for this afternoon?"

"Oh, it's you. Look, I'm terribly sorry, but..."

"Forget it," I broke in. "Is everything fine between you and Doc now?"

"I—I think so. Of course, he's still brooding about Alice, but I think I can snap him out of it. He wants me to marry him right away and go to Pittsburgh with him. He has a chance for a job in a hospital there."

"What will the people in Beech Tree do for medical care?"

"There's a doctor at Indian Landing," she said, "and many of them in Steel City. They didn't appreciate him here anyhow. They depended upon him, but still they made sneering remarks. Dick is meant for bigger things. He—he'll be famous."

"For removing tumors?" It wasn't a nice thing to say, but I'm only human and Dr. Richard Jarrett had irritated me from the moment I'd met him.

"That's not true," she flared.

West Virginia's Pocahontas Mine No. 1, the original producer of the Pocahontas Fuel Co., Inc., yielded more than 44,000,000 tons of coal between 1870 and 1956. That's enough coal to fill 880,000 hopper cars of 30-ton capacity and make a train 5,750 miles long, reaching from Norfolk, Va., to Los Angeles, to Seattle and back to Norfolk.

AEC Outlines Area for H-Tests

WASHINGTON (UP) — The government has indicated it will begin its new spring hydrogen bomb tests at the Marshall Islands in the Pacific shortly after April 20.

The Atomic Energy Commission issued a warning Thursday that about 421,250 square miles around the island will be a "danger area" effective April 20. It said the area probably will be released from control "by the end of August."

The test explosions are slated to include experimental firing of "small" H-bombs and nuclear warheads for anti-aircraft and other missiles. The tests are expected to continue into June or possibly July.

The danger area, roughly rectangular, is slightly smaller than the 445,000-square mile hazard zone set up while the big H-bomb tests of the spring of 1954 were under way. However, it is considerably larger than the danger area set up at the start of those tests.

A HEART TO HEART TALK ABOUT BLOOD!

A man in Rochester donates a pint of blood. 10 days later a woman in Peoria needs that pint of blood. You get it there—on time. For when you join your Red Cross—you help collect that blood—you test and type it—you package and store it—you transport it. And, finally, a doctor administers it. Through your Red Cross—you help assure that blood is where it's needed—when it's needed.
